COMMENTS FROM THE TOWN MANAGER'S OFFICE

The Chapman Street sewer has been plugged several times this past summer. One source of trouble is that an eight inch sewer was installed at the Crescent Park School at the time of construction, this sewer connecting to the Chapman Street sewer which is only six inches in diameter. It is my understanding that the eight inch sewer at the school was installed with a view to the future that the Chapman Street sewer would be enlarged at a future date. One difficulty has been inadequate manholes on this street. This fall two or three temporary manholes will be built so that it will facilitate the cleaning of the sewer in case of a plug. In the not too distant future reconstruction of the street, sewer, and sidewalk should be given favorable consideration.

Sincerely,
Harold L. Bean

JUVENILE HUNTING LAW TO BE ENFORCED

Last year Maine had a total of 41 hunting accidents, five of which were fatal. This was a record low for the state, but certainly not a record to be proud of. A further breakdown of last year's statistics tells us that four out of five fatal accidents were caused by persons mistaking a fellow hunter for a deer. How often have we heard that old timer say, "I can't understand how anyone in their right mind could possibly mistake a person for a deer." The point is that it does happen and not just to the inexperienced hunter either. Accidents then, know no age limit or degree of experience. Carelessness is not an act indulged in only by the young or inexperienced. Positive identification of the target and overconfidence are the two main ingredients for eliminating this tragic killer from our woods.

Young people are considered to be more accident-prone than their elders. Last year's statistics reflect this somewhat in that 17 out of the 41 accidents were caused by persons 21 years of age and under. This is not an indictment of our younger hunters, but merely a reminder to parents that here is an opportunity to make a significant contribution to Maine hunting safety. There are many parents who will do nothing to insure that their children are safe hunters, but many will do so. A juvenile hunting safety law, which if obeyed by both parent and youngster, would go a long way in reducing accidents caused by this age group. Maine hunting regulations specifically state that no person under the age of 16 years may hunt under any circumstances without being accompanied at all times by parent or guardian. There are three considerations relative to the juvenile law which are frequently misunderstood. To put laws in the form of questions and answers, they are as follows:

1. Can a person under the age of 16 hunt alone on land of his parents? Answer: No, because the law is primarily designed as a safety law to protect the youngster as well as others.
2. At what age is a person considered an adult under interpretation of this law? Answer: An adult is a person 21 years of age or older.
3. Can a parent or guardian take a boy or girl under 16 out with him and put him on a stand and drive deer toward him? Answer: No, because the youngster must be accompanied at all times by the parent or guardian, which means in sight at all times.

Various laws have been introduced to enforce this juvenile law rigidly. The reasons are obvious. The world is a looking glass, and given back to every man the reflection of his own face. Frown at it, and it will in turn look sour at you; laugh at it, and with it, and it is a jolly kind companion.

TIME FOR EVERYTHING

"To everything there is a season," according to Ecclesiastes, and if men would cease doing things out of season, there would be less tragedy in the world.

Of all the errors of men, one of the worst is giving a disproportionate amount of time to lesser things. Jesus does not condemn the acquisition of wealth, but he does admonish men not to make earthly gain the whole of life, and to put first things first.

A poor old woman appealed to King Philip of Macedonia to grant her relief in a great wrong. He refused to hear further, saying he did not have time. "Then, King," the old woman told him, "you have no time to be king?"

Harvard's struck the monarch that he heard her plea and granted her relief. If the very king on his throne hasn't time to hear the pleas of the lowliest of his subjects, he hasn't time to be king. Sometimes a man is heard to say that he hasn't time to do this or that good thing. If he hasn't time to serve God, what has he time to do? The earthly seasons come and go, but all the year is the time for serving God.

Edith Cummings, Portland; Mrs. Louise Seames, Mrs. Ella Cole, Mrs. Ruth King, Mrs. Marion Swan, Mrs. Marlene Marshall, Mrs. Ella Seames, Mrs. Shirley Morse, Mrs. Janet Bowers, Mrs. Edith Ward, Mrs. Myrtle Bacon, Mrs. Laura Seames, Mrs. Grace Day, Mrs. Mary Hazelton, Mrs. Joy Fuller, Mrs. Mary Mills, Mrs. Florence Swift, Mrs. Myra Jordan, Mrs. Edith Littlefield, Mrs. Edith Martin, Mrs. Charlotte Cole, Mrs. Jeanne Tobbia, Mrs. Elsie Bennett, Mrs. Helena Bartlett, Mrs. Dorothy Lowrey, Mrs. Georgia Jordan, Mrs. Lilla McAllister. Refreshments were served, the three-tiered show or cake was made and decorated by Mrs. Rachel Mackay of Bethel.

A church meeting was held last Wednesday evening First Trustees Raymond Swan, presiding. It was voted to increase the amount of fire insurance on the church building, also to sell the two oil heaters that were taken out when the furnace was installed. Clyde Dunham will be the pastor for the month of November. Raynor Lurvey, Clyde Dunham and Carlton Lapham are to install plastic storm windows on the north side of the church. Everett Cross did the carpenter work for the furnace installation which included the making of a door under the choir platform, to open from the outside.

Mrs. Harry Swan Jr. is recovering from surgery at the Rumford Community Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. James King, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Swift, Mrs. Bertha Emmons, Leland Dunham and were unable to attend were: Mrs. Richard Melville attended the funeral.

TODAY'S Meditation

THE WORDS MOST WIDELY USED DEVOTIONAL GUIDE

Thursday, October 31

Read Acts 4:13-31.

Where your treasure is, there will your heart be also. (Matthew 6:21).

POSSESSING a big business and every possible luxury, we busied ourselves in work and money-making. On Sunday we drove to the mountains to our country home, which was surrounded by a large garden. There we toiled all day.

But suddenly everything was taken from us.

This great distress led us to reflect upon our lives. The longing for God that had been slumbering deep down in us now became aroused.

The grace of our Lord became mighty in us. In the midst of our trials we recognized the loving-kindness of God. We became thankful that we had lost everything upon which our hearts had been set.

We recognized in this the leading of God's kind hand.

As the result of losing our earthly possessions, we have time for the Lord. We have learned to pray and to commit to Him all our actions, all our lives. We have gained the peace of God. Now our lives are filled with thanksgiving and an unshakable faith in Christ our Redeemer.

Prayer

Our Father, we find it so easy to forget Thee when we become possessed by our possessions. Forgive us, we pray.

Teach us to love and honor

Thee, to worship and serve

Thee; through the mercy of Christ our Saviour. Amen.

Thought For The Day

The peace of God is worth more than all earthly possessions.

GOULD ACADEMY

Gould at Fryeburg Saturday
Gould Academy's football squad will travel to Fryeburg Saturday for the final game of the season for both teams. Gould's 27-0 victory over Berlin and 7-6 upset victory over Mexico signifies that Coach Scott's Huskies have been improving. The offense has been especially strong of late as the Pintos had plenty of trouble stopping the Academy eleven. If the Academy eleven can continue this strong running and passing game Saturday, they should pull through with a win. However, this is the big one for Fryeburg, and they are always at their best.

Sophomore Class Elects
The sophomore class has elected the following officers for the year: President, Peter Wheeler, Bethel; Vice-President, Susan Saunders, Bethel; Secretary, Susan Martin, Intervale, N. H.; and Treasurer, Dorothy Kimball, Bethel.

Gould In Upset Win Over Mexico
Gould Academy provided the biggest upset in Western Maine this season when they defeated Mexico on their home field Saturday by a 7-6 score.

It was a thriller from beginning to end with both teams losing potential scores by penalties, fumbles, and the time element. The Pintos failed to score because of an off-side penalty on one occasion and on another occasion an illegal procedure killed a long gain. The time ran out for the Huskies as they were on the Pintos' 6 yard line work at Newton & Tebbets, Monday, as the first half ended. Gerry Smith broke away for a 40 yard run only to be called back on a clipping penalty while with 2 minutes to go in the 4th period. Gould was again knocking at the door on the 2 yard line only to have a fumble recovered by Mexico.

Mexico scored first in the 3rd period climaxing a 46 yard march. Bernie Viger, quarterback, rushed the last two yards to produce the score. On the try for the point after, Bob Butters blocked the Mexico placekick.

Skill in the 3rd period the Huskies started a 60 yard drive of their own. A Ted White pass to Pete Nichols helped set up the touchdown, which came on the first play of the final quarter. Smith plunged over from 3 yards out. The conversion, which meant victory for G. A. was a Bill Gallagher pass to end Peter Karpowich.

Starring for the losers was Clay Tucker, the Pinto left guard. Gould's defensive standouts were Fred Dallinger, Bill Ide, and Bob Butters. On the offense it was the running and fine blocking of Pete Nichols and the ball carrying of Gerry Smith that helped produce the victory.

The prizes went to Vivian Brown and Eileen Saunders.

Girl Scout Troop 1 met at the Legion Rooms Tuesday after school. Patrols 1, 2 and 3 went to Albany with leaders Beatrice Brown, Marjorie Freeman, Alice Kimball and Virginia Keniston and visited Willis Bean who is the Forest Warden for the lower Rangeley District of Maine Forestry Service. Mr. Bean showed the girls the equipment the Forestry Service uses; showed them the right and wrong kind of fireplace to build; discussed the common causes of forest fires and what can be done to prevent them and how such are handled when they occur; showed and explained the weather station. This was a most interesting trip. The girls were very impressed with their visit and want to thank Mr. Bean. Patrols 4 and 5 remained at the Legion Rooms and had a party and practiced their flag ceremony.

BRIGHT RED CLOTHING

SAFEST FOR HUNTERS

Considerable research has been done on types and color of clothing for hunters. While the results may not be applicable in all instances to Maine hunting conditions, there are certain factors brought out by research on a national scale which every hunter should be familiar with. For example, it has been proven that the common red and black plaid combination is inferior to the solid, bright reds as far as safety is concerned. In fact, the safest color of all was found to be bright yellow, followed by the fluorescent red types. Small items of clothing should not be overlooked, such as, handkerchiefs, socks, mittens or gloves, etc. Remember, one happenings That Affect the Future of Every Individual — National and International Problems Inseparable from Local Welfare.

Economic Highlights

Events moved fast after the Soviet launching of Sputnik, the "baby moon" coming as it did, hard on the heels of a Soviet claim that they had perfected some form of interplanetary ballistic missile.

The initial reaction to the earth satellite, naturally enough, was generally one of surprise and shock. The ballistic missile claim could have been discounted to some extent but Sputnik was something else again. It was no communist propaganda trick. Scientists and others the world over saw and tracked the satellite whirling around the earth at 18,000 miles an hour at a height of more than 200 miles and recorded its radio transmissions.

The concern, of course, was not over the satellite itself. Sputnik was not a weapon, and there was no reason to fear it. The great danger to Western eyes is that Soviet science may have a big lead on the trail of the world, most particularly in the field of rocketry. The satellite, according to the scientists, must have been launched by a staged rocket device which is almost unbelievably complex and difficult to construct. Such rockets, once they are sufficiently developed, will be able to launch guided missiles of great accuracy and almost limitless range. And it is no secret that this country and the Soviet Union are in a grim race to produce practical intercontinental missiles with H-bomb warheads.

President Eisenhower, a few days after Sputnik's launching, went to considerable length to discount the military importance of the satellite, and to reassure this country as to where we stand. Soon, he said, we will send up a series of small test satellites, and in March launch one scientifically superior to the Russian's. And he stressed that we are giving top priority to missile development.

However, there is no doubt that the satellite has given Washington a great deal to think about. The new Secretary of Defense, Neil H. McElroy, said at his first press conference that it may be necessary to speed the missile program. The satellite, he added, proves that Soviet science has made great progress with missiles.

That brings up a really big three-pronged question—are we lagging behind in the missile race; if so, why and what can be done about it? Numerous experts think we may be lagging, and one reason is frequently given. The Portland Oregonian puts it in these words: "The U. S. missile program is lagging chiefly because of jealousies and bickering among the three armed services competing in this field, and because the U. S. Defense Department has failed to force them to work together amicably." There is small doubt that the Army, the Navy, and the Air Force, have all tried to take the center of the spotlight and to obtain the lion's share of the vast funds involved in missile research, testing and development. The result, say many observers, has been a waste of money, materials, manpower and what may be the most precious commodity of all-time.

The Oregonian proposes a simple solution that we "get all our brains in the same laboratory, and quit worrying about the color of the uniforms." If the Soviet satellite helps to bring that about, our cold war enemies will obviously have done us a big favor.

Barlow, Fla., Democrat: "Today the trend of many people to assume that the federal government should furnish the money... your money and my money... for the financing of our schools, for furnishing subsidies to farmers, for building roads and in other ways supplying us with things which early citizens once considered their personal obligations is already breaking down the rights of states to maintain a normal degree of sovereignty, which was a cardinal principle among gifted men who wrote the Constitution of these United States... too great a leaning in this direction can only bring about socialism...."
